

OFFICE 365 ADOPTION DRIVES REMOTE WORKFORCE SUCCESS

APRIL 3, 2020

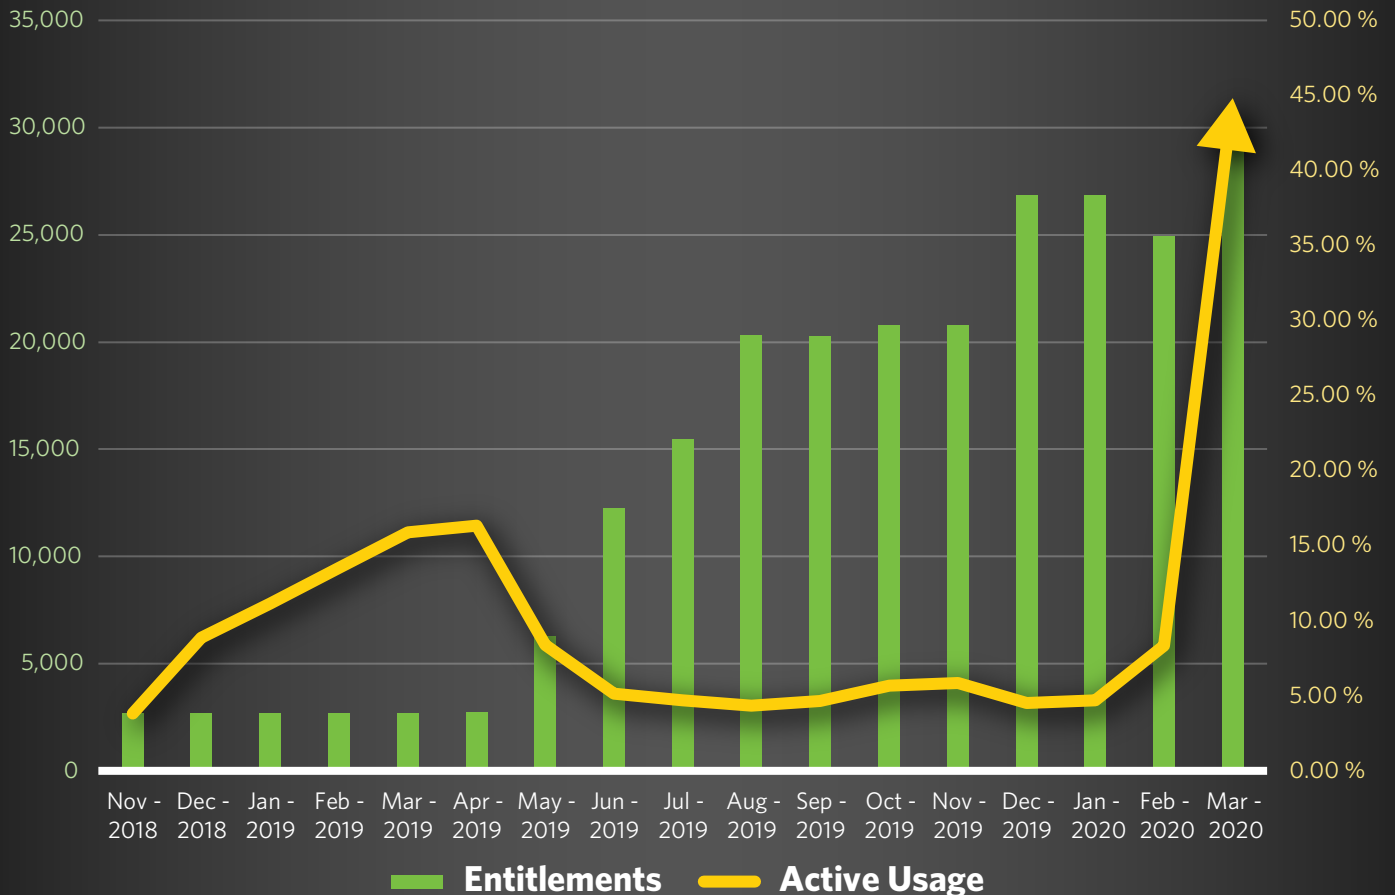

"SGI started rolling out O365 early in 2019, but soon realized that without the proper governance and change management processes in place the project would be less than successful. We took a step back to build out these processes, consider adoption, and built a methodical plan to roll it out to the organization. Our first wave of Exchange users were migrated when the COVID19 pandemic hit. We were able to complete the Exchange rollout, and turn Teams functionality on to allow us to communicate from our new work environments.

All of SGI was using the product within a week! The Employee Experience Team is now in the process of implementing OneDrive and SharePoint so we can effectively collaborate sharing files. We were in a very fortunate state when the pandemic hit, allowing us to move quickly to keep our workforce going."

SGI OFFICE 365 ADOPTION

"Across the WBM client community an amazing and immediate shift to remote work has taken hold. Tens of thousands of people suddenly finding new ways to connect and collaborate, leveraging the incredible power of the technology platforms available. At SGI, the dashboards are showing us an amazing story of transformation. But this is more than a reaction. This level of adoption and experience across the O365 platform is above and beyond, made possible by having a detailed roadmap already in place, a dedicated team of talented people at SGI, and careful planning that aligns to a broader vision."
